And last, but not least, there is almost an assurance of cable communication during the present year with the United States. The old order of things seems to be rapidly on the wane in this colony, largely owing to the infusion of energy and genuine administrative ability on the part of the present indefatigable governor, Sir Ambrose Shea, in whom the entire people place the utmost confidence and trust; and with the coming prosperity will come in many improvements, comforts, advantages, and conveniences never before enjoyed by the people of the Bahamas. The most kindly feeling obtains in this colony towards the people of the United States, and when to their intimate trade relations shall be added the proposed cable to Florida it would seem as if their commercial union would be complete. THOMAS J. McLAIN, Jr., Consul United States Consulate, Nassau, March 10, 1891. THE PETROLEUM TRADE OF STETTIN. REPORT BY CONSUL KELLOGG. The import of petroleum, directly and indirectly, from the United States to the port of Stettin in the year 1890 exceeds considerably that of the year previous. Although the vessels engaged in the trade were fewer in number, their registered tonnage was greater. The number of these vessels entering this harbor during the above year was 48, loaded with 232, 575 barrels of petroleum. Of this number, 35 arrived directly from the United States, and the remaining 13 vessels, with 18, 852 barrels of oil, came from North German ports....
